DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 and 372.

This application contains the following inventions or groups of inventions which are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

In accordance with 37 CFR 1.499, applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single invention to which the claims must be restricted.

Group I, claim(s) 1, drawn to a high-throughput assay device.

Group II, claim(s) 2, drawn to a first method of identifying a compound that alters membrane traffic, wherein a test compound flows in a first flowable fluid through the inner cavity of a high-throughput assay device, and a second flowable fluid flows over an outer surface of the device.

Group III, claim(s) 3, drawn to a first membrane traffic modulator isolated according to the method of claim 2.

Group IV, claim(s) 4, drawn to a second method of identifying a compound that alters membrane traffic, wherein a first flowable fluid flows through the inner cavity of a high-throughput assay device, and a second flowable fluid containing a test compound flows over an outer surface of the device.

Group V, claim(s) 5, drawn to a second membrane traffic modulator isolated according to the method of claim 4.

The inventions listed as Groups I-V do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, they lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: The common feature linking groups I-V is the high-throughput assay device of groups I, II and IV. This assay device is not a special technical feature because it was known in the art at the time the claimed invention was made (see, for example, Mosbacher et al, J. Vac. Sci. Technol. B 14(2), Mar/Apr 1996, as cited in IDS filed on 11 April 2005). Furthermore, the products of Groups III and V do not share a particular special technical feature with the other groups even though they apparently depend from the methods of Groups II and IV because these two products indicate that they have been "isolated" according to some method that has not been pointed out in any of the other claims, whereas the methods of Groups II and IV specifically relate to "identifying" compounds that alter membrane traffic and do not relate to isolating any particular compounds, and it is unclear how a device of the nature defined in any of the groups claimed could "isolate" a compound.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement may be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To preserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

Right to Rejoinder

The examiner has required restriction between product and process claims. Where applicant elects claims directed to the product, and the product claims are subsequently found allowable, withdrawn process claims that depend from or otherwise require all the limitations of the allowable product claim will be considered for rejoinder. All claims directed to a nonelected process invention must require all the limitations of an allowable product claim for that process invention to be rejoined.

In the event of rejoinder, the requirement for restriction between the product claims and the rejoined process claims will be withdrawn, and the rejoined process claims will be fully examined for patentability in accordance with 37 CFR 1.104. Thus, to be allowable, the rejoined claims must meet all criteria for patentability including the requirements of 35 U.S.C. 101, 102, 103 and 112. Until all claims to the elected product are found allowable, an otherwise proper restriction requirement between product claims and process claims may be maintained. Withdrawn process claims that are not commensurate in scope with an allowable product claim will not be rejoined. See MPEP § 821.04(b). Additionally, in order to retain the right to rejoinder in accordance with the above policy, applicant is advised that the process claims should be amended during prosecution to require the limitations of the product claims. Failure to do so may result in a loss of the right to rejoinder. Further, note that the prohibition against double patenting rejections of 35 U.S.C. 121 does not apply where the restriction requirement is withdrawn by the examiner before the patent issues. See MPEP § 804.01.
